

Wines are always changing; to love wine is to love change and to love conversation about wine. We have been open for a year now - wait, really, yes, a whole year - and our wine list has been changing too, as it always will. This list is a perpetual work in progress. As we embrace spring and look ahead to sunny days this is a collection of wines that makes sense to us, and we hope to you as well.

Some of the wines on this list are about innovation and some are about tradition. You'll find certain regions are over represented and others under - that will continue to evolve as our and our guests' excitement about different wines waxes and wanes.

While you are here we hope you will drink delicious wine, eat tasty food, have good conversation, and a few laughs.

Forget labels, screw dogma, try new things. Ask questions. Explore. Enjoy.

Take wine seriously, but never too.

Corkage is $30 per 750ml bottle. Wines brought in that are on our list will not be opened. Corkage will be waived for all bottles over 15 years old.

CHABLIS

Lovers of Chablis rejoice in finding one that is truly titular - that could be nothing else. While made with chardonnay and part of the larger Burgundy region there is something different about Chablis. The eponymous town is 85 miles NW of Dijon, the largest town of the Côte d'Or.

The unique mix of the soil in each vineyard - how much chalky limestone to clay and fossilized seashells - and subtle differences in exposition are what makes each of Chablis vineyards' wines so distinct from the next. The wines that follow are all chardonnay.... all Chablis... and we love them.

GRAND CRU

Domaine Bernard Defaix, Vaudesir , 2011.....	$101
<small>"An excellent wine from a challenging vintage! Riper and rounder than most Chablis with notes of peach flesh, golden apple, lemon curd, petrichor, honeysuckle, and unusually for Chablis, a good amount of spicy toasty oak. Contrast it with the Louis Michel below that uses no oak for a delicious comparison!" -Sam C.</small>

"In 2005, winemaker Jean Michel Deiss literally changed the game. He appealed to the INAO (French wine overlords) in a fight to be able to label this here wine Grand Cru. The problem? This vineyard is co-planted, and that (was) a big no no, as Alsatian Grand Crus had to be varietally labeled. But as this pioneer has said, "the character of the place is stronger than the taste of the varietal." But what do I know? You be the judge." -Jake H.

VINOS BLANCOS GALICANOS (WHITES FROM GALICIA)

Galicia is not the Spain of our Don Quixote imagination with warm dusty plains. Tucked in the northwestern corner of the country, parts are lush and green; other parts are steep hills and cliffsides over rushing streams and rivers. Galicia's cool maritime climate, inland river valleys, and diverse geology make it one of Spain's most interesting regions for wine.

Rías Baixas is the most maritime influenced. The sea can be seen from many vineyards.

Albariño, Cepas Vellas , Do Ferreiro, 2017 .....	$80
Albariño, Soverribas , Nanclares y Prieto, 2016 .....	$65

Ribeiro is located further inland. The best vines grow in the granitic soils high up on the hillsides. Treixadura is the main grape here - a grape that is about texture and subtlety - and other grapes are often blended with it.

Valdeorras is at Galicia's eastern edge. While grapes are grown on the plains, the best wines come from the hillsides above the Sil river where the elevation and river influence cools the vineyards.

California wines don't get much love in the PNW, but we are excited about what's happening down there, and feel it's important to share delicious wines with you regardless of popularity. Represented here are a couple wines made by salt-of-the-earth meets punk rock humans. Both farm organically, with integrity and passion. It's wines like these that remind us to not take ourselves too seriously, let loose a little and enjoy the ride.

IN BETWEEN WINES

Rosé and orange wines live in the middle - they aren't quite red or white - so that's where we put them.

Rosé comes from red grapes and incorporates some of the color from the skin, but not enough to qualify as a red wine. Orange wines, also known as skin-contact wines, are simply wines made by leaving the grape skin in contact with the juice from white grapes. The flavor profiles are in a league all of their own displaying structure, tannin and texture. Orange wine may just spark a new fire in your wine game. Ya welcome.

<small>"Sogno di Bacco translates to Bacchus' Dream, the god of wine and excess. Around here we definitely can relate, it's strictly professional though, always :) Farming organically in the Asti hills, the humble and warm couple Renato and Ezio Trincherò specialize in Barbera but make compelling white wines as well. This fresh Malvasia del Candia ferments with the skins on for 10 days, then aged 20 months in stainless steel. About as complex as an orange wine can get; winter spices and honey on the nose, round tannins and wild flowers on the palate. If you're feeling adventurous, get up on this!" -Maggie S.</small>

“Local grapes Mondeuse and Perlan partner up to create not only a stunning wine but an experience. Notes of black raspberries, wet stones, and violets will transport you to the meadows of Savoie on a warm afternoon. This wine is all about balance. With its lifted mineral aromatics and soft tannins unfolds a wine that is as fresh and lively as it is moody and gripping. Its long thought-provoking finish demands another sip.” - Tyra L.

IF YOU'RE ONLY GOING TO HAVE ONE

CHÂTEAUNEUF...

Henri Bonneau was the 12th generation of his family to make wine. His innagural vintage was 1956, and his final was 2015 - he passed in 2016. He was a traditionalist; never destemming, fermenting in concrete, and aging in barrel for 3 to 4 years. The Réserve des Celstins is a barrel selection normally based on fruit from his holdings in La Crau, famous for its boulder strewn ground. The wine is one that tastes like no other Châteauneuf, but at the same time could not be anything but.

FRENCH REDS

BANDOL FROM CHÂTEAU DE PIBARNON

Bandol sits above the Mediterranean coast in Provence. Here the Mourvèdre grape is the dominant red varietal. It is uniquely suited to this spot. The grape retains freshness through the long Mediterranean summer, but it also needs a long time on the vine for its flavors to mature. The hillside vineyards and Mediterranean breezes allow for that long ripening. The red wines from here are curious in their ability to show power and earth, but retain a fresh quality. Pibarnon is an estate that exemplifies this. It's vineyards are at the highest altitude in the appellation within a natural amphitheatre. Its soils are unique as well. There is a high percentage of limestone as well as fossilized material not found in its neighbors' vineyard. Vines are cared for according to organic principles, harvest is always by hand, and wines are fermented with indigenous yeasts. The Bandol Rouge includes 10% Grenache and ages for 20 months in old large barrels. Dark fruit, spice, herbs, earth...it's all there.

Priorat (not so) Powerhouse - Terroir al Límit

Winemaker Dominik Huber's first vintage of Terroir al Límit was 2001. His style and technique have evolved over the last two decades; he aims to make wines that are pure, clean, and precise. Moving away from destemming to whole cluster ferments, as well as introducing organic and biodynamic viticulture, he is able to provide a clear expression of the terroir. Huber is producing finesse-driven wines in a region better known for its bold style. Always fascinating to see someone going against the grain, reinventing and carving a new path for the next generation.

CALIFORNIA LOVE

CALIFORNIA PINOT NOIR

Here in the Willamette Valley we love Pinot Noir. It's been in our hearts since David Lett first put down roots in 1965, literally. When it comes to Pinot Noir though we often forget our Pinot Noir producing neighbor to the south. (No, we are not referring to Richard Sommer who planted Pinot in the Umpqua Vally of Oregon in 1961, which we don't really talk about). Rather, we are taking about Pinot Noir from California. There are so many thrilling selections! This is not a comprehensive list of "the best" producers in CA. It is simply a list of some that we feel are special. Maybe give one a try?

PINOT NOIR FROM PORTER CREEK VINEYARDS

In 1977 George Davis purchased 40 acres of land in Sonoma to grow Pinot and Chardonnay. Twenty years later his son Alex took over. In addition to growing up working at the winery Alex spent several years in France working with renowned winemakers including Christophe Roumier. George and Alex have always focused on making delicate and elegant wines that show little oak and lots of terroir. Fiona Hill is a steep south facing hillside of clay over bedrock that pushes the vines to go deep. All farming is biodynamic. These are soulful expressions of Pinot, and it's surprising that they are not more well known.

CRISTOM'S MARJORIE VINEYARD

The original vineyard at Cristom, and the first of the named 'ladies' Cristom is famous for. It is unique to the the others in that its plantings go back to 1982, and while much has been replanted at this point, these wines below were made from grapes ripened on predominately own-rooted vines. Phylloxera became evident in 2000 and starting in 2004 they began to replant portions of the vineyard. These wines are unique pieces of Willamette Pinot's story.
